SUPERINTENDING SCHOOL COMMITTEE'S REPORT.

The Superintending School Committee of the town of Franklin submit their report for the year ending March 1864 :—

In the prosecution of their work, the special charge of Districts No. 1, 9, 11 and 12 was committed to Mr. SAVAGE ; that of Districts No. 2, 4 and 7 to Mr. SIMONDS, and that of Districts No. 5, 6 and 8 to Mr. DUGAN. In Districts No. 3 and 10 the schools have been under the supervision of their own committees, whose reports will be found incorporated, in their appropriate places, in this report.

The sum raised by town tax, the past year, for the support of schools is $1400. The appropriation from the avails of the Literary Fund is $122.85 ; and that from the Railroad tax is $276.50, amounting in all to the sum of $1799.35. In addition to this, District No. 3 has raised the sum of $100, to increase the High School privileges of the scholars residing within its limits.

The whole number of scholars, four years of age and upwards who have attended the public schools, two or more weeks, the past year, is 463 ; 229 males and 234 females. We present a detailed account of the schools by Districts, referring the town to a statistical table accompanying this report for further particulars :

DISTRICT No. 1. Summer Term of 14 weeks, was kept by Miss SARA C. MOOR ; and the Winter Term, of 9 weeks, by Mr. O. L. CROSS. Whole number of scholars in Summer, 22, with an average attendance of 17. Whole number in Winter, 32, with an average attendance of 28.

After the tempest of the previous year, it is very agreeable to the Committee to report a beneficent calm. On so dark and troubled a night, we hardly anticipated so tranquil a dawn. The airs around the school house seem bracing and balmy and the atmosphere within placid and invigorating. Let the teachers describe it. The mistress of the Summer school says that "after having taught several years, she can truly say this has been one of the pleasantest schools she ever taught. The scholars are well advanced in their studies, and among them are some superior scholars. During the term the school was deprived by death of one of its most beautiful and promising pupils, Willie Burleigh, whose loss was deeply lamented by his school-mates and teacher. The scholars have been very studious and the parents have expressed an unusual interest in the school ; under which circumstances the school could not fail to be successful." The teacher was gentle in spirit and manners, yet firm and intelligent, and was faithful in performing the duties of her trust. The school was a success.

Mr. Cross says : " I found the school in an excellent condition. The scholars are young and not far advanced, but they have shown a promptness, an energy and perseverance seldom equalled. Regular and attentive to their studies, all have seemed to try to learn. The active and efficient Prudential Committee, together with the parents of the scholars, one and all, have manifested a deep interest in the welfare of the school, and by their hearty co-operation have greatly aided in securing to the pupils whatever benefits may have been derived. Four of the pupils have not an absent mark ; five others have been absent but one-half day, and two others but one day each. Several others have come nearly up to these. By a little more parental care and effort, regularity of attendance may be greatly increased." We are glad to add another extract : " Not a profane, vulgar or uncouth word has reached the ears of the teacher from any scholar ; not a noticeable instance of quarreling ; not a failure in the special requirements of the school room. On the contrary the scholars have all seemed to love the place, to love one another and to strive for each others' comfort and happiness." Mr. Cross has managed the school with his accustomed intelligence, tact and faithfulness, and with corresponding results.

DIST. NO. 2. Summer Term of 10 weeks. Whole number of scholars, 15 ; average attendance, 8 1-2. Teacher, Miss MARY L. WARDSWORTH, who faithfully performed her duties. A prevailing sickness among the scholars caused this low average. The teacher says in her report, " scholars constant in attendance have made good progress, the remainder have learned as well as could be expected. Believing it to be the duty of every teacher to secure the advancement of her pupils, I have, to effect this, endeavored, as much as in my power, to secure order, punctuality, studiousness and thoroughness. Many of the parents lack interest in the progress of their children, are not prompt to obtain books at the commencement of the term, and leave it too much to the option of their children whether they attend school or not."

Winter Term of 12 weeks. Whole number, 17 ; average, 9. Teacher, Mr. H. L. M. CLARK. A large majority of the scholars left the school near the middle of the term ; thus the benefit of the school was greatly diminished. No cause of the withdrawal was made known to the Committee. Parents should realize the privileges of free schools, and not allow their children to be absent from trivial causes. Mr. Clark seemed anxious to do well for the district. The six scholars present at the close of the school appeared well and showed good progress.

REPORT OF SUPERINTENDING COMMITTEE OF DISTRICT NO. 3.

In the distribution of their labors, the special charge of the Primary department was committed to Mr. ROWELL; that of the Intermediate department was assigned to Messrs. PIKE and PROCUTOR, and that of the High School to Messrs. GILCHRIST and SAVAGE; and they make report as follows:

PRIMARY SCHOOL. Both terms of this school was taught by Miss MARTHA R. GOODWIN. Length of each term 12 weeks. Number of scholars, the Summer Term 53, with an average attendance of 44. Number of scholars the Winter Term 55, with an average attendance of 42.

Both terms of this school were successful. The tender years of the scholars, their great number and the uncomfortable condition of the school room, especially in warm weather, make this the most difficult school in town. The Committee found little, if any thing, to criticise and very much to approve. Great progress has been made and good government in the school restored. Reciprocal affection between teacher and scholar, that great essential in the control of such a school, existed. Order in the school room, distinct, audible and correct enunciation in the spelling and reading lessons and in recitations, and a logical and full solution of sums in arithmetic were among the many improvements observed.

INTERMEDIATE SCHOOL. Both Terms of this school were taught by Miss J. D. GILMAN. The length of each was 12 weeks. The number of scholars each term was 35, with an average attendance of 30, during the Summer Term, and a less number during the Winter Term.

Miss Gilman was a stranger to the Committee at the time she was employed to teach the school. She came highly recommended by many individuals. During the Summer term, she was attentive and interested in the school, and commendable progress was made. The Winter term was a failure. The teacher seems to be wanting in self-respect. For the most part the scholars lost all respect for her. That most potent influence in a school room which a respected teacher has over respectful scholars was wanting. Force and the green hide without this moral restraint are seldom successful in controlling and directing scholars. The teacher in her discipline of the school, by the use of unfitting language, and loss of temper, was not able to give proper effect to her attempts to control the spirit of disobedience which arose in the school. This condition of the school may be in part attributed to want of interest and coöperation on the part of parents.

The HIGH SCHOOL, has been under the charge of Mr. GEORGE M. FELLOWS, the past year. There have been three terms of 12 weeks each. The whole number of scholars in attendance from the district, during the Spring Term, was 26, with an average attendance of $23\frac{1}{3}$. The whole number, during the Fall Term, was 22; average attendance 18. The whole number, during the Winter Term, was 21, with an average attendance of $19\frac{1}{2}$. From other towns, and other districts of this town, there has been an aggregate attendance of 40 scholars during the year, giving an average of $13\frac{1}{3}$ per term.

The High School, on the whole, has been prosperous, the past year; yet it is easy to see there is room for improvement. The instruction is accurate and thorough,—particulars, the value of which can hardly be overestimated—and the classes at the examinations have generally appeared well. Substantial improvement has been secured in the case of most, and perhaps of all the scholars who have attended with constancy, but our ideal of the High School is not yet reached. We desire to see the classes farther advanced, (though not till they have thoroughly mastered the elementary branches) and to witness greater enthusiasm in the spirit and movements of the school. These must be secured by the manifest interest and coöperation, in every appropriate way, of the parents, the teachers and the scholars. Many pupils are attending, very appropriately, to the branches of arithmetic, algebra, and geometry, and to the elements of the classical languages. It is desirable also that the scholars should press on and master the departments of mental and moral science and history.

The instances of tardiness reported are in an increasing ratio; the number in the Spring term being 61; in the Fall term 123, and in the Winter term 134. This fault should be abandoned.

It is important that this school, the most advanced in town, should be made in all respects as excellent as possible, and that it should become a model school. We commend it to the generous regards of all the friends of the young, and ask them to visit it, and become acquainted with its field of operation and its actual bearings on the welfare of the place and region. We trust that, though now adopted only by this district, it will ere long be adopted by all the districts, and will extend its free benefits to every part of the town.

District No. 3.

Franklin, February 29, 1864.

DISTRICT NO. 4. Summer Term of seven weeks, taught by Miss VINA A. COLLINS. Whole number of scholars, 15; average attendance, 13. The scholars in this district are young, some living one mile from the school house, but the register shows less than the average number of marks for tardiness, dismissal or absence. Miss Collins taught a term here last season. This mutual acquaintance proved to be very favorable this term. The school was well organized at once, and the work of improvement heartily begun. Each scholar had a sufficient amount of labor assigned, and performed it. The instruction and government on the part of the teacher, were judicious and appropriate; the improvement made more than met the expectations of the visiting committee. This term closed prematurely on account of illness of the teacher.

Fall Term of 14 weeks. Whole number, 18; average, 16. Teacher, Miss MARTHA A. COLBY. This was her first effort at teaching. She evinced much skill, great interest and untiring labor, directed by good judgment. Her exertions were richly rewarded in the improvement of her pupils and approval of patrons. Miss Colby wisely adopted the arrangements of the summer teacher as far as practicable, who in turn had followed her own system of a previous term, modified by the experience of successful teachers previous years. In consequence of this uniformity, this school has been well governed, the instruction thorough and exact, and the scholars have acquired good habits of study. It is earnestly hoped this district may continue to employ experienced and judicious teachers — the same teacher as far as practicable — to direct the developing minds of its children.

The visiting committee cheerfully accords to Misses Collins and Colby the praise of keeping model schools in No. 4, the past season.

DIST. NO. 5. Summer Term of 10 weeks; teacher, Miss HATTIE C. HALE; whole number of scholars, 11; average attendance, 8 1-2. This was Miss Hall's first experience in teaching. We commend her intelligence, industry and faithfulness. The district speak highly of her as a teacher.

Winter Term of 14 weeks; whole number, 11; average attendance, 9. The teacher, Mr. S. P. THOMPSON, carried with him a unusual amount of enthusiasm and perseverance into the school-room, and succeeded well in enkindling the same in the minds of his pupils. He is a teacher of marked thoroughness and ability. Mr. Thompson performed an excess of labor by meeting with his scholars three evenings in each week and thereby carried them through an extra amount of study. The school is highly commended.

DIST. NO. 6. Summer Term of 8 weeks, Miss LAURA A. GREELEY, teacher; whole number 25. Miss Greeley failed to complete her Register. We hope teachers will be careful in this respect. The school at its opening appeared well, and was conducted throughout with some ability, though we fear the same interest was not maintained to its close. Miss Greeley is not without experience as a teacher, having taught fifty months; but in this school she became disgusted with the vulgarity and profanity which she was forced to hear and had no power to restrain, and therefore seemed anxious to see the close of the term.

Winter Term of 8 weeks; teacher, Mr. JOHN EMERY; whole number, 25 ; average attendance, 20. Mr. Emery is an original teacher, who loves his work and always succeeds well. His nicety in little particulars, and the complete system to which he reduces all the exercises of the school was a discipline very much needed here. The effect of this excellent training will be of service hereafter in this school. A private school of 4 weeks succeeded the public school.

DIST. NO. 7. No school has been kept in this district the past year.

DIST. NO. 8. Summer Term of 9 weeks ; teacher, Miss AMANDA A. INGALLS ; whole number 14 ; average attendance 11. Winter Term of 12 weeks by the same teacher ; whole number 22 ; average attendance 20. This is a fine school and it has been finely taught. The closing examination was highly creditable alike to teacher and the school. The reading, especially, was very fine. The drawling manner of performing this exercise, so common in many schools, has entirely disappeared in this.

DIST. NO. 9. The Summer Term of 8 weeks was kept by Miss ELLEN M. MORRISON, and the Winter Term by Miss NANCY A. MORRILL. Whole number of scholars in Summer 12, with an average attendance of 10 ; whole number in Winter 11, with an average attendance of 9. At the closing examination of the Summer school, commendable progress was evinced in the several branches taught, and the term was generally profitable. Soon after her work in this school was accomplished, the friends of the teacher were called to mourn her early transfer from this world to a higher service above.

Miss Morrill reports her school one of the best she ever taught "in regard to whispering, laughing and studiousness." "The scholars waited for no second bidding to get their lessons after they were assigned ; consequently they reaped their reward in having them correctly and perfectly learned. Out of eleven scholars, there were nine that had every lesson perfect." The opportunity for a final examination of this school was lost from the failure of the prudential committee to notify the superintending committee of the time of its close.

REPORT OF THE SUPERINTENDING SCHOOL COMMITTEE OF DISTRICT NO. 10.

PRIMARY DEPARTMENT. Both the Summer and Winter Terms in this department were taught by Miss FRANCES E. WOODFORD. This school has been under Miss Woodford's charge for the last three years, and exhibits ample evidence of her faithfulness. We think it could not have fallen into better hands.

Length of Summer Term, 17 weeks ; whole number of scholars, 69 ; average attendance, 50.

Length of Winter Term, 12 weeks ; whole number of scholars, 54 ; average attendance, 43 2-3.

ADVANCED DEPARTMENT. The Summer Term of 17 weeks was taught by Miss LUCY W. CLARK. An evident desire was manifest for the improvement of the pupils under her charge, and a commendable advancement was made. Whole number of scholars, 47 ; average attendance, 32.

The Winter Term was taught by Mr. JAMES S. GARLAND ; length of term, 12 weeks. Whole number of scholars, 54 ; average attendance, 45. Mr. Garland labored with much fidelity, and the closing examination showed that thoroughness had been the aim, and was in good degree attained.

In conclusion, we regret that there is not more interest manifested by parents in our schools where the children receive that early training which is to have so important a bearing upon their success in life. Much of the efficiency of our schools is lost in consequence of a want of coöperation on the part of parents with the teachers in securing the punctual and constant attendance of the scholars, and in maintaining that discipline which is so essential to success in the school-room.

DIST. No. 11. The Summer Term of 8 weeks was kept by Miss SARAH E. ELLIOTT, and the Winter Term of 8 weeks by Miss JOSIE L. WADLIEGH. Whole number of scholars in Summer 8, with an average attendance of 7 ; whole number in Winter 11 ; with an average attendance of 9.

"The past term," reports Miss Elliott, "has afforded me much satisfaction in witnessing the improvement in school. Cheerfulness in obedience has won my love. The interest which the parents manifest in the progress of their children tends greatly to promote their advancement." These young teachers were faithful to their trust, and are commended as good and successful instructors. The scholars, during both terms, made decided progress.

DIST. No. 12. The Summer and Winter Terms, of 10 1-3, and 16 weeks, were taught by Miss SARAH E. HODGDON. Three scholars only, are reported as in attendance from Franklin, the larger part of the school belonging to the adjacent town of Northfield. The teacher appears to have been capable and faithful in the discharge of her duties, and the scholars gave good evidence of progress in their studies.

In reviewing the condition of the schools the past year, it is obvious that they have in general kept on in the even tenor of their way, and have been attended with gratifying success. Still they are susceptible of indefinite improvement.

It is desirable that parents and friends of schools should manifest their interest by visiting them. One teacher reports that "parents have kept aloof from the school room as though they had implicit confidence in their teacher, or else feared some mortal contagion lurked within the walls." Paralysis of interest in those who should be alive to the schools may be suggested as a third reason why too many teachers are uncheered by the visits of friends.

The foundation supports of our Republic, our liberties and prosperity should be guarded and fortified by every good citizen. These, as laid deep in the soil and society of the country, are the family with its home discipline and its warm loves; the free schools for all the people, made efficient to develop, discipline and adorn the minds of the young, and the free church to guide all families and individuals to revere their Creator and live in true loyalty to him and love with all mankind. These, our fathers believed, are the only grounds of popular liberty, virtue and prosperity; and these have made New England and the country the desire and the refuge for the oppressed of all lands. In the time of our convulsions and national sorrow, whatever else may be appropriate to be done, that effort cannot be wrong or inappropriate which is put forth to strengthen the foundations on which the fathers rested the fabric they built and have transmitted to us. The public schools, silent and unobtrusive as they are, are yet mighty for good. We invoke for them increased attention and care.

It is desirable to perfect among us, as soon as possible, the school system planned by our fathers, and in doing this, to extend the free privileges of the High school to all the districts of the town. This will give a much needed stimulus to the primary schools, and will carry the education of the children all over town up to a higher point. District No. 3 is practically showing its confidence in the enterprise, and is reaping the appropriate rewards. When all the districts shall unite in the High school, its beneficent influence will be greatly increased.

We deem it appropriate in this Report to refer to the "Franklin Library Association," from its connection with the cause of education among us. The late Hon. James Clark, animated by warm desire for the welfare of his native town, suggested the formation of the institution and proposed to endow it with the avails forever of ten shares of the capital stock of the Northern railroad, to be appropriated to the purchase of books. The Association was accordingly formed previously to his death, in such a manner, and with such arrangements in all respects as to meet his wishes. The library is owned by share holders, constituted such by holding each one share or more, at the price of five dollars per share; and they may draw out one book each week for every share owned. There is an annual assessment, never to exceed fifty cents per share, to defray the incidental expenses of the library. Two hundred and twenty dollars have just been expended in books, and the library has been opened under very favorable auspices. This Association promises great and lasting good to the town, and the Superintending School Committee welcome it as a public benefit. It is desirable that the range of share holders should extend to every portion of the town for the benefit of all the parents and children. There is a provision by which individuals, not share holders, may secure the benefits of the library by paying fifty cents, semi-annually, in advance; and families, by paying two dollars per year. But to become share holders is the preferable way, because this increases the number of books in the library at once, and confers its privileges for all time. New books will be added to the library every half year. A debt of gratitude is due to Mr. Clark for his noble benefaction, which, in the true spirit of it, is administered by our fellow townsman, his son and trustee.
